Capture of a Monster Snake in Queensland.
Inquiry has been made concerning the locale of this huge boa. It was captured by Mr. F. Sachs, who led an exploring party for the purpose of examining country at the heads of the Annan and Esk Rivers (about twenty miles south of Cooktown, North Queensland). When first seen the snake was coiled up in the hollow formed by the junction of the lower limb with the main trunk of an immense tree overhanging the rapid above the navigable head of Annan River. A well-directed shot made the monster uncoil and fall into the torrent below. Although mortally wounded, it heavily breasted the stream, and struggled hard to regain dry land. Twice the attempt proved futile, but, illustrative of the success popularly supposed to attend ventures of the third degree, the huge boa managed after these efforts to bring his head above the level of a very steep bank. Mr. Sachs, fearful of losing his magnificent specimen, caught the python by the head, dragging it on to high ground, and was rewarded for his philanthropic labour by the constrictor enfolded his would-be captor in an anything but fond embrace. The artist (M.
Henri) of this city has graphically seized this striking moment for the subject of the picture in the Sydney Mail. When killed the huge snake measured twenty-one feet three inches in length with a girth of twenty inches, and is the largest authenticated specimen of boa constrictor known in Australia. It has not yet been forwarded to Melbourne, but doubtless Mr. Sachs will give visitors to the colonies an opportunity of inspecting this natural curiosity before the close of the Exhibition. —Sydney Morning Herald

Artemas Ward told a good story about a visit he made to the sanatorium of the Bungtown Bugle, and the interesting interview he had with the editor. The editor was preparing his leading editorial, which he read over to Artemas. It was to the effect that "we have just had some extensive repairs made to our sink. A new bottom has been placed in it at an immense expense, in which too holes have been bored, through which the water passes into the entirely new bucket below.
A little miss has a grandfather who has taught her to swim and shut his new crush hat. The other day, however, he came with an ordinary silk one. Suddenly he sees the child coming with the new stovepipe wrinkled like an accordion.
"Oh, Grandfather," she says, "this one is very hard. I've had to sit on it, but I can't get it more than half shut." —Paris Figure.

It is said that the postal card has decreased the sale of writing paper $12,000,000 annually in the United States.

Evening School Department of
ST. LOUIS COLLEGE.
The President has decided to include this branch in the Curriculum of the College.
Its object is to afford all classes of the community the means of acquiring a Theoretical and Practical knowledge of all Commercial and Business transactions in daily use, and also to give an insight into the workings and applications of different trades, which is so essential in these islands.
THE THEORETICAL BRANCH
Will be under the supervision of the President and Professors of the College. THE PRACTICAL, and most important branch will be specially attended to by representatives from the various master-artisans among us, who have kindly and generously promised their services to this useful and valuable enterprise.
They will alternately devote an hour each evening to the task of imparting this practical knowledge to the students.
All the implements necessary to each trade, and to agriculture, will be furnished by the College.
Each Master-Artisan will be connected with the College, and will be entitled to name one Free-Life-Scholarship to the privileges of this Evening School Department.
TERMS:
Each Student per Week, $1.00—50 Cts.
The Evening School will open at 7 o'clock P. M. Jan 81
